The salubrious climes of the Nilgiris got me captivated and engrossed my entire two years stay there. Quite frankly , it was not just the beauty of the area, but also my lovely association with Army Public School, Wellington that made my stay in Wellington a cherished one. APS, Wellington works on established principles of strategic development, standardised curriculum and student oriented programs. Working in the school was a thoroughly enriching & professionally satisfying experience. I performed my duties as an English teacher for primary as well as senior classes. A healthy working environment , excellent camaraderie between the staff & a common goal to work towards the holistic development of students, sets the school apart from the other educational institutions. My journey was challenging and made me step out of my comfort zone several times . One such memorable time was when i was asked to teach Hindi in the primary wing - a task which necessitated solid preparation to teach young minds. Today, I proudly hold that position as a feather in my cap. Debate competitions, annual day, science exhibition, quiz competitions, sports day, celebrating special days and occasions truly gave me opportunities to think out of the box. Having attended as well as conducted a workshop by myself has given me the confidence to handle unfamiliar situations. 'Age is not the flight of years but the dawn of wisdom' as someone rightly said & if today, I consider myself wiser & ,more experienced ,a major part would go to the credit of APS, Wellington. My association with my students was like of a friend & mentor and I will cherish the particularly heartfelt wishes I received from my students during the many 'Teachers Day' celebrations I was fortunate to attend. I also befriended several teachers and I'm sure I can count on the help and experience of the many senior teachers & colleagues I was fortunate to meet. I wish the school continued excellence in academics and co-curricular activities. May the school soar to new heights of success each passing year.

All through my school life I have always felt at home and now when I look back it makes me feel nostalgic.

I feel so humbled to have started my journey as a small kid as I had so many amazing opportunities to excel and achieve in all that I do with encouragement to each obstacle. My life in APS Wellington has been full of opportunities, exposure and unforgettable experiences that has given me innumerable memories to look back upon. I am extremely grateful to my teachers who guided me throughout, remained so supportive and considerate, stood by in hard times and imbibed the qualities of perseverance and self confidence. This institution encourages young minds to dream, work, believe and achieve!!!! It is by far one of the best schools that I have studied in !!
